

Safe Sex MESSAGE

Appearing on The Late, Late Show with Craig Ferguson, Grey's Anatomy's Kate Walsh overcame taboos and talked openly about women carrying condoms. The actress, who plays Addison on the show, told Ferguson how she carries around a product called 'Just In Case,' which, to the untrained eye, looks like a compact, but is in fact a condom case. Walsh explained, "This clever invention is very ladylike and promotes responsibility for safer sex." We think this is a great idea, and who better to recommend it than Dr. Montgomery Forbes herself! We wonder if Addison carries one, in case she runs into Alex at Joe's Bar... For more information, visit www.justincaseinc.com. ●
